

Game of Life: Post Game Reflection

Directions: After playing a game of “Game of Life”, take a little time and reflect on the experience and how this game relates to real life scenarios.

In the game, is marriage the same as starting a family? Do you think it happens the same way in real life?

When do you get married in the game? Is it before job/college, before kids? Does it happen the same way in real life?

In the game, what is the consequence of having children? Do you get paid money or do you have to pay money to afford them? Is this the same in real life?

Do individuals who chose a college degree get jobs that made more money? Is this the same in real life?

In the game, what kind of events would make you go into debt or lose money? Can these same things happen in real life? What should we do to prepare?

How do we “win” the game of life? Is this how we “win” real life?
